was given to the fact that it is frequently impossible for the case officer to receive the assistance of professional psychologists or other specialists. The consensus of opinion was that assessment and evaluative techniques do exist, other than those employed by the psychologist, which may be entirely suitable for field use by the case officer. It was decided to establish a working group to identify and validate such techniques. This group will include memberships from the Clandestine Services, the Office of Training, and the Technical Support Staff, DD/P. Research and experimentation will be conducted under the direction and supervision of [] Chief, TSS. 25X1A

E. Preparation of Training Section to SR Division Country Appendix
